

Catholic No.1: Cats: Expanded Second Edition

Make us something about cats. This dictum, given to the artists and writers who participated in the 2003 Catholic exhibition at Guild & Greyshkul Gallery in New York, produced--beautiful, startling, thought-provoking, sweet, disturbing--results. According to editors/curators Jesse Pearson and Glynnis McDaris, If they said cats are pretty, that was fine. If they said cats are stupid, that was fine too. This is Catholic in the spirit of its neglected definition: Having varied tastes. This isnt about eating fish on Fridays... The visual art in Catholic includes photographs by Roe Etheridge, Ryan McGinley, Colin DeLand, Richard Kern, Terence Koh and Terry Richardson; drawings by artists Jim Drain, Sabrina Mansouri, Pieter Schoolwerth and Spencer Sweeney; and projects from Le Tigres JD Samson, Built-by-Wendys Wendy Mullen and United Bamboo. Cats also includes Steve Lafrenieres writing on his mothers cat photography, Amber Gayle on brushes with 300-pound mountain lions, Amy Kellners diatribe on the Hang in There, Baby tradition and a poem from Eileen Myles pet, Avi.
