

Big Game Fishing Handbook (Handbook Series)

This guide to the sport of deep-sea game fishing concentrates on fish species that are listed by the International Game Fish Association including marlin, barracuda, tuna and swordfish. The book begins with a historical overview of the sport and moves on to classification issues and the threat of commercial harvesting of species. The following chapters cover the major big-game fish species around the world. Scientific classification is included along with distribution, habits and weights; game fishing tackle and techniques; and boat equipment and safety. The second half of the book then gives a general overview of big-game fishing centres worldwide, encompassing the Americas, Europe, Australasia, Africa and the Indian Ocean Island groups. Interspersed throughout the text are facts and anecdotes about the feats of famous big-game fishermen.
