

Great Expectations: Design Teaching, Research & Enterprise - Proceedings of the 17th International Conference on Engineering and Product Design Education (E&PDE15)

This is the proceedings of the 17th International conference on Engineering and Product Design Education - a successful international annual conference valued by the design community. The conference is a collaboration between the publisher - the Design Society Special Interest Group on Design Education; the Institution of Engineering Designers and Loughborough Design School. This is valuable reading for all educators and practitioners in design.
