

Masalacollage

Masalacollage is a project by Tono Merinero that sets out to spotlight the handcrafted work of the anonymous commercial artists of India, Thailand and elsewhere -- a way of championing an art that, in the 21st century, is seriously threatened by the advent of the new digital technologies. In Masala-collage Merinero explores the cities in search of graphic elements that will inspire his own work, documents the process of creation and finally presents a selection of the finished pieces that delight the eye with their colour and visual impact.
