

The Management of Sport: Its Foundation and Application

This text aims to meet the needs of the sport manager, and presents information in the speciality areas of experimental learning, organizational theory, group decision-making and labour relations. Areas considered include personal ethics, organizational responsibility, and professionalization. This edition includes a new chapter on experimental learning, which provides information on how internships add to the students educational experience by providing practical, real-world experience for the benefit of the intern, the interns college or university, or the sponsoring organization.
