

Jack Nicholson: Movie Top Ten

Jack Nicholson - charming, charismatic and demonic. Having sustained one of the most successful careers in Hollywood, he is still receiving critical acclaim (Oscar for As Good As It Gets) years after his early Oscar-nomination as the drunken, liberal lawyer in Easy Rider. With a prolific filmography ranging from convict McMurphy in Milos Formans seminal One Flew Over the Cuckoos Nest, to the psychotic axe-killer Jack Torrance in Kubricks The Shining, and sleazy private eye Jake Gittes in Polanskis Chinatown, Nicholsons ability to blend box-office success with cult status is unparalleled.

Jack Nicholson: Movie Top Tens takes ten of his most engaging or offbeat films and analyses them through accessible, in-depth essays by some of the best cutting-edge film writers around. Visually charged with striking b/w shots throughout, the result is both an incisive overview of Nicholsons impressive career, and an anthology of films by some of the leading cult directors of recent years such as Stanley Kubrick, Tim Burton, Roman Polanski, Mike Nichols, Antonio Antonini, and Milos Forman.
