

Osmos Magazine: Issue 07

Osmos Magazine is an art magazine about the use and abuse of photography, explains founder and editor Cay Sophie Rabinowitz (formerly of Parkett and Fantom). Nourishing contemporary perspectives in photography and the visual arts, the issue delivers a unique view with content divided into recurring thematic sections--some traditional, such as Portfolio, Stories and Reportage--and others more idiosyncratic, such as Eye of the Beholder, where gallerists discuss the talents they showcase; and Means to an End, about the side effects of nonartistic image production.
