

Science Is Fiction: The Films of Jean Painleve

One of the first to plunge underwater with a camera to bring the subaquatic world to the screen, maverick scientific documentary filmmaker Jean Painleve (1902-1989) captured the throes of a male seahorse giving birth, the geometric choreography of crystal formation, and the mating habits of hermaphrodite mollusks. In a lifetime spanning nearly the history of cinema itself, Painleve made over 200 films, including The Seahorse, Freshwater Assassins, The Vampire, and The Love Life of the Octopus. His lyrical and instructive animal behavior films set to avant-garde scores were much admired by Surrealist contemporaries such as Antonin Artaud, Luis Bunuel, and Jean Vigo. Science Is Fiction includes Marina McDougalls historically informative Hybrid Roots, Brigitte Bergs heavily illustrated biographical essay Contradictory Forces, art critic Ralph Rugoffs Fluid Mechanics, a Liberation interview with Painleve, stills from Painleves most celebrated films laid out in storyboard fashion, and a selection of Painleves writings appearing for the first time in English. The latter include Neo-Zoological Drama, a playful romp on the behavior of Turbellaria, or flatworms; Mysteries and Miracles of Nature, an idiosyncratic catalog of unusual animal behavior; and Scientific Film, a discussion of science films that pays homage to Painleves fellow pioneers. The book also includes French film critic Andre Bazins Science Film: Accidental Beauty, a review of the 1947 International Association of Science Film festival, organized by Painleve.
