

The Print Collectors Quarterly: Complete Index 1911-1950

The Print Collectors Quarterly (PCQ) began publication in 1911, one of the first periodicals devoted solely to the history of print-making, to printmakers (peintres-graveurs), and to print collecting. The PCQ contains many articles on artists that are not available elsewhere. For some artists, there are multiple articles including several each on George Bellows, William Blake, Gerald Brockhurst, Hans Burgkmair, Edward Calvert, Giovanni Castiglione, Daumier, Durer, Goya, Seymour Haden, Meckenem, Meryon, Millet (and that is only through the letter M). The PCQ was published continuously, with the exception of the periods 1920 and 1942-1948, until it merged into Print magazine in 1950. A summary the publishing history of the Quarterly is given on page 8. This is the first complete index to the entire run of the Quarterly, omitting only the ephemeral Prints of Today and Quarterly Notes series. A few articles of lasting interest the Quarterly Note sare included, marked as [Q,N.] The Index includes details omitted from the Quarterlys own of contents, such as page and illustration numerations. The first section of this book is a chronological list of the tables of contents of all the issues. It is followed by three indexes: first, an index by author; next, an index by artists name; and finally a subject index. In the author index, items under each heading are arranged by topic, in the order used in the artist and subject indexes. In the artist and subject indexes, items under a given heading are arranged in chronological order. The covers of selected issues of the Quarterly are reproduced throughout the issue list and in this books frontispiece, and represent each of the magazines publishers throughout its history.
